Section A – Reading

Q1. Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow. [5 marks]

The great advantage of early rising is the good start it gives us to our day's work. The early riser has done a large amount of hard work before other men have got out of bed. In the early morning, the mind is fresh, and there are few sounds or other distractions, so the work was done at that, fresh is generally well done. In many cases, the early riser also finds time to take some exercise in the fresh morning air, and this exercise supplies him with a fund of energy that will last until the evening. By beginning so early, he knows that he has plenty of time to do thoroughly all the work he can be expected to do and is not tempted to hurry over any part of it. All his work is finished in good time; he has a long interval of rest in the evening before the timely hour when he goes to bed. A sound night's rest rises, early next morning in good health is most refreshing, and after he gets to sleep several hours before midnight, at the time when sleep and spirits for the labours of a new day.
